

You Missed the Train

In the space of a station you were running and a feeling of futility caught you first Hope was disappearing in the gap of the closing door of a train I'm sorry you lost because you missed the train

Your wall is not as tall as his Your points are nothing for a team
You wonder about too many things You cannot play this solo part

You outsider
standing at the wall Climb up!
You can't give up Or do you want to easily run away?
If you really want to
I won't keep you here
Anyway you lost the role